Should you believe that this document has some value, also please consider donating what you think is a reasonable sum for it to some worthy purpose; even a tiny amount may make a difference somewhere. I suggest Good Shepard Services in New York City which provides supports for at-risk children and families (<https://goodshepherds.org/>). As services originally started by a religious order, this seems appropriate to themes within this series of books. Donations to your local library or community college scholarship fund can be valuable local investments. Consider also Archive.org as it helps make these digital resources available. I think any of these organizations would be pleased with even a nominal sum and the donations might be tax deductible. If needed, contact your organization for additional donation details. -HH-
